President's Message By Sanchia Spandow

I am honored to be leading our branch this year along with an outstanding Board of Directors and the committees that support us. The Program committee is already working to bring us stimulating and informative programs. Our theme for this year: Strive Outreach Advocacy Reinvention. We will strive to recruit and retain more members, increase our outreach to the community and bring advocacy into a more prominent focus as well as reinvent and explore new ways of approaching the way we work by trying new things. Join us by volunteering and help us move forward and SOAR!

Speaking of new things; we will hold a major fundraising dinner, "Women of Distinction." Committees are working hard under the auspices of the Philanthropy Committee and co-chaired by Kathy Dorsey and Kathy Neuhaus. Our Keynote speaker for the evening is Susan Savage, CEO of the River Cats Baseball Team. Three Women of Distinction will be honored. Mark your calendars for Thursday, February 18, 2016. This promises to be an outstanding event. You won't want to miss this! Stay tuned for details. Watch Branch Lines for more information as the dinner plans progress. As with any program or event, "it takes a village." I encourage you to be a part of it by volunteering, either on a committee or on the day. This fundraising event can be successful only if we all support it.

Contact either co-chair Kathy Dorsey or Kathy Neuhaus for more information and opportunities to join the committees.

I hope you will join us for our Kick-Off on Friday, September 25th when we will bring you information about the year ahead as well as a chance to see the new branch video and meet the students from Lincoln High School who put it together.

Eleanor Roosevelt Honorees--2014-2015 AAUW Year

Jackie Lamb

As a branch member for nearly five years, Jackie has served in a variety of ways: as President Elect, President, Vice President of Philanthropy, and as a committee member working on projects. As president in 2012-13 she initiated a pilot program that restructured the Board to improve its efficiency, adding two new positions: Vice Presidents of Philanthropy and Outreach. Jackie also worked for many months to finalize the Branch application to become a 501 (c) (3) non-profit. She hand-carried documents to the State departments in Sacramento and closely monitored the process by telephone to ensure its completion. She also gained the help of a volunteer accountant to advise the Branch.

Jackie next served as Vice President of Philanthropy and worked with her committee to plan and develop many successful fundraising activities, including the first Antique Evaluation Day. This project brought scores of residents from the community to have their antique objects evaluated.

This year as part of the Marketing/Publicity committee, Jackie took on a huge project working with Lincoln High School students who had received a grant to produce a media project. Jackie's work with the students and advisor resulted in the first-ever Branch video, shown at the installation. This video will be used to publicize the Branch in the greater South Placer and Sacramento County area and increase awareness of the Branch's goals and mission.

Jackie has also formed relationships with various community leaders such as the President of Sierra College, William Duncan, presenting him with information about the Branch's scholarship and leadership programs that help students at Sierra College. Since Jackie's presidency, with the help of other Branch leaders, the Branch's activities at Sierra College have increased greatly.

Jackie has contributed greatly to the Branch by her leadership and volunteering to take on projects and see them through to completion. Thank you for your great contributions to the Branch.

Patricia Lane

Patricia has been a Branch member since 2006 and over the years has given her time, effort and talent to many Branch activities, often using her skills from a background in marketing and research.

Patricia has served as Hospitality Chair, Development Chair (now Vice President of Philanthropy position), Nominating Committee chair, Vice President Membership, and chair of last year's huge Philanthropy Project Evaluation Report. She also worked on the 501(c)(3) planning committee for several years.

As Vice President of Membership, Patricia was asked to develop a membership database and to oversee the committee planning New Member events. She has spent countless hours recruiting new members and sharing member information with other chairs who need it. She ensures that all membership forms are updated and accurate and that the renewal process runs smoothly.

As chair of the Philanthropy Evaluation project, Patricia compiled all information about Branch Philanthropies to help ensure compliance with the Branch's new non-profit status. She oversaw the publication of the report in 2014, giving a clear and complete representation of the Branch philanthropies: AAUW Funds, Scholarship, Sierra College Leadership, Speech Trek, and Tech Trek. The report will stand as a resource for years to come. Finally, Patricia has been active in many areas: Book Group, Great Decisions, Wine Group, Lincoln Neighborhood Group.

Thank you, Patricia, for your years of work.

2015-2016 AAUW Year

Thank you to our volunteers!

As you know, we are a volunteer organization. All the women listed here devote a tremendous number of hours during their term in office, or as project volunteers.

In addition to those names, there are many "unseen" volunteers who quietly go about giving their time and talents to this branch on a daily basis. We could not function without them.

Our year has just begun, but I want to thank each and every one of these women for their commitment of time and energy to making our programs, events, and projects a success.

We are always in need of great volunteers. Join us, won't you?

Sierra College News

By Sue Miller, Sierra College Leadership Chair

Sierra College received an AAUW Campus Action Project Grant, and under the leadership of Professor Megan Seely, six students in her fall 2014 "Introduction to Women Studies" class developed "Gender Stereotypes A to Z". This project identified 26 stereotypes, connected them with inappropriate words, and asked appropriate questions to educate and stimulate thinking about the use of these words. Posters of these words were erected on the campus for 5 days in late April. As part of the grant, Professor Seely and one student were given scholarships to attend AAUW's National Collegiate Conference of Women Student Leaders in Washington in late May, 2015. Others on the project team were so excited about being able to attend NCCWSL that they raised funds for a total of 4 girls to attend!

Ashley Brown and Rachel Sexton, Sierra College
students attending NCCWSL

At the branch's June Installation Luncheon, Ashley Brown and Rachel Sexton shared highlights from the Conference. They were especially excited about the feeling of empowerment they experienced, meeting other college students, hearing inspiring speakers, and gaining new vision about the future opportunities for growth and education available to women. Their enthusiasm was contagious, and their appreciation for the experience offered them by AAUW was gratifying for all of us in attendance. They will be back to speak at our September Kick-off event!

High Tea Welcomes Our New Members

By Patricia Lane, Membership Vice President

Fifteen new branch members attended a beautifully served high tea held in early June at the home of Janet Johnson.

Kim Lillard, new Tech Trek chair, provided information about Tech Trek's history, purpose, activities, and accomplishments.

Patricia Lane, Membership Vice President, encouraged new members to participate in all of the many activities the branch offers as well as the opportunities for them to volunteer.

Each new member spoke briefly about her education and profession. From the active conversations heard around the tables, the branch has a very talented and accomplished group of new members.

Introducing our New Scholarship Recipients By Betty Manning, Scholarship Chair

Schelly Jensen and I interviewed scholarship applicants from Sierra College and are pleased to announce our scholarship recipients for 2015-2016.

Carissa Lolmaugh is a vivacious young lady who describes herself as holistic, artistic and determined. She has multiple interests and has worked at Art Beast, a children's art studio where she was known for her creativity, positive attitude and energy. Those attributes came across in the interview as did her passion for a future career in soil conservation and environmental issues. If anyone can make a difference in helping California with its conservation efforts in the future, Carissa is planning on being part of it. When she completes her studies at Sierra College, she would like to transfer to the University of CA, Davis or Cal Poly to major in Soil Science or Hydrology.

Melissa Wenzel is an enthusiastic woman who returned to school as an adult learner with a teenage daughter. She's in her 2nd year at Sierra College and interested in working with and making a difference for children who struggle with behavioral health, mental health, substance abuse and gang involvement. At present she volunteers and works with families who have lost loved ones. She describes herself as persistent, strong willed and open minded and is focused on obtaining a Psychology Degree at CSUS and eventually her Masters Degree. Her long term plans are to work for an agency in Sacramento or Placer County and to make a difference in troubled children's lives.

Congratulations to our 2015 Scholarship Graduates!

Cyndee Waller

After graduating from CSUS in May, scholarship woman Cyndee Waller was hired as a Social Services coordinator at a skilled nursing facility and began her new position the beginning of July. She was accepted into grad school but decided to put that on hold for a while. She's very excited to actually be starting her career and hopes to be joining the AAUW soon.

Gabrielle Overton

Gabrielle graduated in May from Sierra College. She then moved with her children to Long Beach in June and is living with her boyfriend and his two children. She says she's very excited about this change in her life and moving forward with her education. Her long-term goal is to apply to UCLA for her masters degree. She thanks the AAUW for the assistance she received while at Sierra College.

2015 AAUW National Convention in San Diego By Kathleen Crawford

1040 women (and men), including 5 from our branch, gathered in San Diego to participate in AAUW's 2015 National Convention. We chose from more than 30 workshops including sessions on programs, membership, public policy advocacy, marketing, and fundraising.

The opening Plenary Session panel took up the topic on federal enforcement in the areas of Human Trafficking, criminal enterprises and gangs as well as the At Risk Girls Commission in San Diego County. Bonnie DiManis from the San Diego County District Attorney office and Catherine Lhamon, Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights in the Department of Education spoke eloquently about the importance of AAUW advocacy for these issues. In the area of Leadership Development, the soon to be released program Work Smart was previewed as a pilot project for increasing the negotiating skills of working women to begin to narrow the wage gap. The workshop on "What it Takes to Make a Woman Leader" motivated us to come home and take action. We heard about the barriers as well as successes for Women in Technology and got updates on AAUW programs: Tech Trek, $tart $mart, and Elect Her.

The 2015 Eleanor Roosevelt Fund Awardee Juanita Johnson-Bailey closed out the convention with her career experiences in the Georgia Office of Mental Health and her current position as Director of the Institute for Women's Studies at the University of Georgia. Her specialty is race and gender research in educational and workplace settings. She commented on the distancing of higher education away from personal interaction with students and professors with the increasing marketing efforts of higher education to specific audiences. Early family influences determine gender roles that most often start in the family. She emphasized the benefits of coalitions.

We were inspired by the enthusiasm and comradeship of AAUW members from around the country. Our branch was honored as one of the top 50 branches nationwide in contributions to AAUW funds, thanks to the generosity of the matching grant offered by Carolyn Garfein at the 2014 Membership Kick Off! (See Sanchia in picture below pointing to our branch as one of the top 50!)

Mark your calendars for the 2017 National Convention in Washington DC on June 14-17. Several of us intend to make the trip to our nation's capitol so start your planning to join us! If you have any questions, please ask Kathleen Crawford, Carolyn Garfein, Kathy Kort, Sue Miller and or Sanchia Spandow for more information on the National Convention!

Learning + Fun = Tech Trek Camp 2015

By Kim Lillard, Tech Trek Chair

Since 1998, AAUW has helped change girls' lives through Tech Trek, an experiential, week-long summer camp held at UC Davis, designed to further the interest and passions of 8th grade girls in STEM: Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics. This year AAUW Roseville-South Placer Branch sent five middle schoolers to camp: Elena Castro (Twelve Bridges), Lauren Gray (Buljan), Maya Snow (Cavitt), Raquel Thomas (Buljan), and Mridini Vijay (Granite Oaks).

During their week at UC Davis, the five young women who received this year's scholarship have participated in hands-on classes in math and science, as well as field trips, craft projects and physical education. Classes at this year's camp included Chemistry, Forensics, Entomology, Audio Engineering, Anatomy, App Design, Genetics, and 3-D Math as part of Civil Engineering. Teachers, professionals and visiting experts in STEM fields shared their knowledge with the girls, bringing practical experience to the skills the girls gained throughout their camp week.

This summer the girls learned that the UC Davis campus is home to the largest collection of insects in the United States. They created an alarm system they could take home and put on their bedroom doors to keep out pesky siblings. They received real-world experience while waiting for their architectural drawings to go through "government plan check." Perhaps most importantly, they learned that science involves asking serious ethical questions as well as looking for pure scientific answers.

Several of our campers plan to serve as future junior camp counselors if their schedules allow; all of them said the camp fueled their desire to attain degrees in the STEM fields. AAUW members are needed to support this wonderful program and to do the important work of equipping young women for STEM fields by serving on this committee. Reaching out to schools and encouraging young girls to apply and go through the scholarship process to become the next group of campers is crucial to the success of Tech Trek.

AAUW members who serve on the committee have the inside track when it comes to reading the essays the girls prepare, interviewing the girls to find out how STEM fields fuel their passions for their futures, and discussing with the parents how to bring their daughters' dreams of a future in science, math and technology one step closer to reality. AAUW members get the happy task of attending the ice cream social for the Tech Trek finalists (and I can tell you from experience how many smiles appear when the ice cream comes out of the freezer and into the bowls!)

Please consider serving on the Tech Trek committee for 2015-2016. Contact Lynda Braun or Kim Lillard for more information.

Help make dreams come true for the young girls in our local schools who would love to make the science, technology, engineering or mathematics fields a part of their future.

Here are our Tech Trek girls at camp in July.
